

1 DECEMBER 1975

STAT

Periscope

HIS COUNTRY'S CALL

Americans who were in Peking when U.S. envoy George Bush got the news that he had been named to head the CIA report that he did not exactly jump with joy. The onetime Texas congressman and GOP National Chairman does not think the intelligence post will do him much good politically. Nonetheless, he felt that he could not say no to the President.